Redcliff Babies Make Clean Up At Hat Contest

THREE OF THE SIX PRIZES COME HERE—WINNERS ARE ALEXANDER STEWART MCKENZIE, BETTY BRUCE BALMER AND GLADYS EVELYN JOHNSON.

Redcliff was very much in the limelight at the Carnival in Medicine Hat yesterday, when it was announced that this town had captured three of the six prizes offered in the baby contest. The prizes were won from over twenty Alexander Stewart McKenzie, first prize in the class for over six months old. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. McKenzie. In this same class Betty Bruce Balmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Johnson, was only two months old, and was in competition with babies five and six months old, secured first prize.

It will be remembered that only a short time ago, Ellen Hargreaves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hargreaves of this town, won the certificate of merit at the Wheatley exhibition. With all these baby prizes coming to Redcliff there must be a reason, and the Review is of the opinion that proper medical and nursing attention which Redcliff was able to give through its doctor and hospital when these babies were taken into the world, and the fact that the babies taken in the baby clinic by the parents of these children and our local doctor and hospital, had had much to do with it. These babies were judged along scientific lines and they were brought up along the same lines. In future Redcliff should be known as the town of the three B's, where we turn out the best Babies, Babies and Babies on the market. If it were added to suggest another B it would be the fact that we have Redcliff as we look now to make this a real town.

To Abandon Roth Medicine Hat Well

Will Make Another Test—Probably In Vicinity of Redcliff.

We reprint the following from the Medicine Hat News last Saturday: "Mr. 'Tink' Beck, in charge of the operations at the Roth No. 1 well, is back from Calgary, where he consulted with the Department of Mines regarding the procedure to be followed in plugging the well here, on account of sulphur in the water."

A start will be made in abandoning the well on Monday, and the hole will be filled with concrete. The bottom up to the Milk River gas and a job that will take some weeks. "Nothing has been heard from Mr. Roth yet as to picking out a site for the new well, but it is rumored that his geologists will come to Medicine Hat, and from the information to be obtained from the log of the No. 1 well, be able to pick on a location higher up on the structure believed to contain oil."

"The sulphur water which was recently encountered is taken as an indication that the present hole is located too low on the rise of the anticline."

Regarding the last paragraph quoted above, we understand that the dollars came to the conclusion some time ago that the No. 1 well was just outside the limit where oil was most likely to be found. It has not been generally understood that geologists have been favorably impressed with the prospects for striking oil just at the edge of Redcliff town limits to the east, and it is predicted that the next to be made by the Roth interests will be somewhere in that vicinity.

Canada to Revert To Gold Standard

Will Start on July First of This Year

Canada will revert officially to the gold standard on the first of July. It was announced in the house of commons by Hon. J. A. Robt, minister of finance, across the water, that he said: "I have no intention of bringing down any legislation on the subject, but Canada will automatically revert to the gold standard on the first of July."

New Meighan Film Coming to Cameo

Interesting Tale of Florida With Star At His Best

Florida—with its bathing girls and exciting races has made the screen debut and been brought you via the silver screen. It's all in Tom Meighan's latest dramatic picture, "The New Kentucky," which comes to the Cameo theatre on Monday next.

From what one is able to gather, the modern southern state would seem to be in quite a flurry of excitement. People stand on the sidewalks and fight on the distant pavements—all in the search and hunt for gold. It is a repetition of the "old Kentucky" in a new setting, with brains being used instead of bullets. The star is seen as Tom Kelly, a legal pitcher who is bound for Florida and the prize camp. In the film, he meets Lila Lee, a beautiful girl who is his love interest. Kelly makes a bundle of money then loses it. The finish shows him carrying home a bundle of money and ending wind-up to a cheerful career.

Canada Ready to Reduce Cattle Duty

Proved U.S. Will Do Same Says Dominion Minister

W. B. McRae, minister of agriculture, announced in the house of commons that the Canadian government was prepared to "trade" the "bribe" policy with the United States in the reduction of duties on cattle. Every step taken by the United States government, he said, "in the way of a reduction in duty on Canadian cattle will be met by a corresponding reduction in the Canadian duty against American cattle. We have a brick for every brick. That is the way we will meet the tariff wall against us. We will not be put with the removal of a tariff wall, but we will meet our tariff against American cattle."

ONE ALBERTA OIL WELL BEATS ALL ONTARIO

The Republic No. 4 well, in the Turner Valley field, south of Calgary, is producing more oil now than all the wells in the province of Ontario together, according to an authoritative statement. The total Ontario production for 1925 was 143,000 barrels, which was less than the total production of the Republic well.

It is stated officially that Spillers will resume work on their big roller mills in Calgary this year. They have previously withdrawn from the elevator field and are now confining their activities to milling.

To Eliminate Assessment on Brick Yard Kilns

80 DECIDES COUNCIL WHILE SITTING AS A COURT OF REVISION—ALSO REDUCE THE IMPERIAL BANK ASSESSMENT

Last Monday evening the Town Council sat as a Court of Revision to hear complaints against the assessment of taxes properly. Several appeals were dealt with, but in most cases the Council upheld the assessor's valuations. There were particularly in connection with the smaller built-up areas. Three cases, however, occupied the attention of the Council for some time. These were the Imperial Bank, the Premier Brick plant and the Premier Brick plant.

The Imperial Bank's appeal was first considered and it was decided to reduce the assessment to equal that of the Royal Bank.

The Premier Brick and Premier Brick plant appeals were then considered. The Council decided to reduce the assessment of the Premier Brick plant to equal that of the Royal Bank.

The Council also decided to reduce the assessment of the Imperial Bank to equal that of the Royal Bank.

Councillors Campbell and Champ moved in amendment that instead of assessing the Imperial Bank at $4,000, the Council should assess it at $2,000.

Canada's Mineral Wealth

Canada appears to be on the eve of a very marked development of the mineral resources in minerals which it is well known the Dominion has in abundance but the development of which have, in a variety of reasons, been neglected. In this new era of activity in making these resources available for use, every section of the Dominion will, apparently, have a part, although the most noticeable activity will prevail in Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba.

In Quebec one of the largest schemes of hydro-electrical development in the world is to be carried out on the Saguenay River by United States Capital. It is predicted that ultimately this development will rival the huge undertakings of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission at Niagara, creating additional hundreds of thousands of horsepower. A huge aluminum manufacturing plant is to be erected, with the result that an entirely new city will arise in the ancient province.

During the past year or two Ontario has been steadily forging to the front as one of the world's greatest gold producers, and 1925 proved to be a record year in this respect. Now with the rush into the newly discovered Red Lake district, and a great awakening of interest in the mineral resources of the province, and increased prospecting, the probabilities of a further substantial increase in production and of the ascertained mineral wealth of the province are exceedingly bright.

Some of the most encouraging features of the situation are, however, in Manitoba. At long last, a large sum of money is available for development of the famous Pile Pin mine, estimated to contain $125,000,000. Investment of a mining property with nearly $200,000,000 of gold, silver and copper in sight, including the establishment of a smelter, thus making possible the development of other mines in the same area, is a mine of which and calls to exploit the Pile Pin in richness of ore. The Government and Legislature of Manitoba are co-operating in the matter of providing necessary railway facilities through the construction of a new line from the Hudson Bay Railway to the Pile Pin mine. A Bill to incorporate the railway has already passed second reading in the Legislature.

In both Alberta and Saskatchewan increased interest is being taken in the discovery and development of the mineral resources of the Dominion. In many of these are still of unknown value, geologists are convinced that oil will ultimately be found in both provinces in large and paying quantities. Furthermore, it is absolutely certain that to a greater extent than ever before the huge coal deposits in these two provinces will be utilized to meet Canadian demands and make the Dominion lead dependent than formerly on foreign fuel supplies.

These developments are all highly gratifying from a national standpoint. As has been urged repeatedly in this column, it is only through the development of its natural resources that Canada can prosper, secure much needed population, provide increased traffic for its large railway mileage, and ultimately pay off its heavy war debt. Every sound scheme of development is to be welcomed and encouraged.

At the same time a note of warning to the general public is in order. Gold and other minerals are being discovered in such an abundance that they capture the imagination of people and arouse great enthusiasms. Men without any scientific background take advantage of the resulting excitement, organize paper companies, issue glowing statements and prospectus, promising to make all who invest rich overnight. They never tell of the many who have invested and lost, but recite the stories of the few who have made fortunes out of a lucky strike.

This is a time, therefore, for people to be on their guard against the eternal temptation of making strikes and options. Unquestionably there are good and sound investments to be made, but before risking any money people should make the most careful inquiry into the merits of the proposition submitted to them, and before making the capital desired open through which responsible reports can be obtained, and advantage should be taken of these before any money is paid over, or any undertakings signed. As a rule, the man who has made the capital desired open for its development, it is the wild-catter who through occasional adroit, elements goes out to catch the unwary and gullible, offering one dollar stock for five and ten cents. If it was worth a dollar to the wild-catter, it would be demanded. The strong probability is that it is not worth five cents, or anything.

Canadians should wholeheartedly welcome and encourage all legitimate prospecting and development of the Dominion's minerals, but not to do for their own sake as individuals, but for the good name and sound progress of Canada itself, should from down upon and have absolutely nothing whatever to do with the professional wild-catter who knows little about mining or minerals, and whose operations serve to "under mine" confidence in Canada and retard its development and progress.

Will Auction War Relics

Alameda City Council Says Gun Have Become Cumberstones

War relics are now at a discount in Britain.

Andent arms will dispose of one of the "Big Doves." The gun, which was captured by the Australians and given to the city along with a number of others of different calibres, has become a cumberstone in the opinion of the city fathers. Bulwark of the victory of 1915 having faded there was an opportunity for the city council to the proposal that the whole lot be auctioned off.

Now is the dream of childhood, the love of youth and too often the bank of old age.

Frenchman Will Try Trans-Atlantic Flight

Famous Ace Plans to Compete For $25,000 Prize

It is reported that Captain Penck, the famous "Ace of Aces" intends to compete in the $25,000 prize for a direct New York-Paris flight. He will make the attempt during the month of May, using a specially constructed three-engine French monoplane developing 400 horsepower. The aircraft will take off from Central Park and land in the Bois de Boulogne in Paris.

Captain Penck said it might be a bit premature to make any too definite statements concerning the details of the flight, which might well be modified before the attempt finally is made. "It is a big job to undertake to fly the distance of 4,000 kilometers," he said. "It cannot be carried out without the most careful preparation in every smallest detail." But the famous aviator expressed confidence the project would sooner or later become an established fact and the two capitals linked together by air.

Agony Of Lumbago Quickly Soothed Away By 'Nervine'

For the aching, piercing pain of Lumbago and the tormenting aches of rheumatism, no ailment is so easily and quickly relieved as the agony of lumbago. "Nervine," the famous French remedy, sinks at once into the muscles of the back, and the blood from the congested area, and the pain is a short time. Those who suffer from lumbago, aches, and rheumatism of the back should try "Nervine," the King of Pain Destroyer. Get Nervine today. At all druggists.

Coal Production Increased
Total coal production for 1925 in Alberta was 5,832,394 tons, an increase of 67,800 tons over 1924, according to the report of the Alberta Coal Mines Branch. The report also shows that 1,148 tons of tar sands were taken from the McMurtry field.

Restored Strength and Former Good Health

Quebec Lady Was Weak, Excessively Nervous, Depressed and Weighed Down With Lumbago

Mrs. E. Boyd Took Three Weeks' Treatment of Dods' Kidney Pills, and Amazing Results Followed

Danbury, Conn. (Special).—That Dods' Kidney Pills bring back health and strength is proved by the following statement from E. Boyd, who resides at Danbury.

"I can tell you that Dods' Kidney Pills because I was weak and nervous, and I was weighed down with lumbago. I had only taken a few weeks' treatment of Dods' Kidney Pills, and my strength and courage and former good health were restored."

This statement speaks for itself. Ninety per cent. of the ill from lumbago come from weak and diseased kidneys. They are the organs that circulate all the impurities of the blood. If they fail to do this, the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body. Try a box today. See them at all druggists or The Dods' Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto 2, Ont.

Oppose Attempt To Scale Mount Everest

Prints of Tibet Have Closed Road to All Expeditions

According to a recent dispatch from the Dalai Lama, Mount Everest has finally closed. Mount Everest has been further attempts to gain its peak, the highest point on the world's surface. This means that Tibetan authorities have reverted to their earlier policy of exclusion. It had been tentatively abandoned when the British government gave for the previous British expeditions, permission being granted after friendly pressure had been brought to bear by the Indian Government, and that recourse would not have been taken had it been desired. But Chaidel, H. L. Noel, the British army officer, who acted as official photographer to the expeditions of 1922 and 1921, is frankly sceptical on the point. In his report he states:

"The priests who govern that state have no more definiteness of opinion on expeditions up the mountain. They don't like the loss of life that so often occurs, and they cannot understand why we want to reach the top. They think that we have some ulterior motive which will not disclose. A hunt for treasure, for example."

ATTEND THE MEETINGS

FOR the next few weeks the Province will be passing through a general election. With three parties entered in the contest in a large percentage of the constituencies throughout the Province it is only to be expected that more than the usual number of public meetings will be called in all the centres. At these meetings the candidates and their supporters will outline their respective policies and discuss questions of interest to the general public. For this reason all should take advantage of every opportunity to attend these public meetings so as to be in a better position to vote intelligently on election day.

We would especially draw the attention of the young people to these meetings and urge upon them the advisability of being present at them. They should prove educative as well as instructive to all concerned.

In Medicine Hat constituency, of which Redcliff is a part, there will be three candidates in the field. J. J. Hendrick, representing the Conservatives; Jas. Hole, representing Labor, and C. S. Pingle, representing the Liberals.

All three are capable men who are well and favorably known. This being the case, the voters will be largely influenced by the policies, parties and platforms which they represent and advocate. The only way to get the information necessary to permit one to vote intelligently is to turn out to the meetings and hear the candidates themselves.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

JUST when everybody was beginning to feel that Alberta was on the point of having the natural resources turned over to the Province along comes Henri Bourassa and throws a monkey wrench in the shape of a school question, in to the arrangement machinery. This business should not be made a political issue in the present election; nor should the people be divided in demanding what is justly the rights of the Province. "Hands off Manitoba" was a popular slogan in 1896. "Hands off Alberta" should be just as popular now. There should be nothing in this school question business about which to get excited. Alberta has never yet had any school troubles, nor is she likely to have any so long as we have no interference from outside sources.

The Provincial Government has acted wisely in insisting that we run our own school affairs, the same as other provinces and along lines as set forth in the B. N. A. act.

With complete control of her school business, without any outside interference or dictation, Alberta can be depended upon to give everyone as square a deal as they are getting now. The main complaint is that we refuse to be dictated to.

Now that the date for the provincial election is announced and the campaign is up us the Review will take the stand which it always has taken with with regards to advertising for the different parties and their candidates. The columns of the Review paper will be open for any who want to use them, and space of any size will be set aside for any individual or organization which may want to use it, at our usual advertising rates. In this way we cannot be accused of devoting more space to one party than to another as each will get just what he contracts for.

An Experiment That Succeeded

Five years ago the people of Alberta, disgusted with the failure of Party Government to function to the advantage of the Province, defeated the candidates of the party machines, and experimented with a Government composed of men with no previous parliamentary experience, but actuated by a desire to serve the people's interests.

Five years have elapsed since that election. The Government formed then, goes back to the electors this month for their verdict.

The party machines are doing their utmost to defeat the only business and non-party Government the Province has ever had. U. F. A. candidates are responsible to their constituents, not to Ottawa. They have no blessings from Mackenzie King or Meighen, no patronage to distribute, no promise to make but that of continued good Government.

The members of the U. F. A. have subscribed funds and contracted for this space in the Redcliff Review and in the limited time and space available from now till election day will endeavor to broadcast the facts. Further facts will be given at U. F. A. meetings to be held in your district at which your attendance is invited.

Carrying Out Destruction Tests

Pottery Firms of Britain Searching For Unbreakable China

In the research laboratories of the pottery firms of Britain, destruction tests with china are now being carried out systematically.

The doomed plate, or teapot, is first of all put in a machine, a ball at the end of a steel pendulum swings down and hits the target. By bouncing back the pendulum, hammer blows are struck until the plate or teapot is broken. The resistance is mathematically computed.

Each experiment belongs to a series in the day when a dish, or plate, will be rebounded and the test will be repeated.

Scientists have improved materials until British china now outlasts that of all other countries, or far as can be proved in the laboratory. When this discovery has been tested at the factory by the "pendulum" method, the test is repeated, and the results are made known to the manufacturer.

A weak spot, which recently has been greatly improved, is the glaze. When this is cracked, hot water causes a further surface spalling, and the shattering is made worse. We all know—and the life of the article was shortened.

Methods for unbreakable china is emphasized by the experience of Messrs. T. Lyons and Co. during the first year of the Wembley exhibition.

The result was as follows:

Saucers 110,000
Cups 3,750,000
Teapots 1,000,000
Glasses 1,400,000

Grand total 5,715,000

For the one year of the exhibition, there were exactly 50 breakages in three weeks of six working days each. More than half the breakages were of the "pendulum" type, which was washing, and another 55 per cent. of breakages took place behind the counter.

The pottery experts are facing a verdict of the old battle between the fireproof and the unbreakable armor plate.

The imminent the initiative is with the enemy.

Scarc Oriental Method

Young Turkish Women Do Not Favor Silk

Turkish women are reported by the Constantinian Daily. The Republic not to adopt amidst all their new western practices the Anglo-Saxon woman's custom of wearing silk. They are devoted to women, a recent innovation of this newspaper, says down the middle of the skirt, and wear also a method of walking for the ladylike: "Do not drag your feet, but slide them gently along the pavement. Do not waddle from side to side or move your shoulders or swing your arms. Take short, sharp steps—a long stride is entirely in violation of the rules. Do not rush. Keep your eyes on a high point directly ahead of you and appear to see nothing."

Although the older generation of Turkish women is not likely to fit these upon any of these accounts, the majority of younger women have declared open war on the traditional Oriental method of strolling languorously through life. One of the most striking manifestations is the cross country race now being organized by the girls' section of the Galata District Club of Constantinople. It will be the first event of the kind for Muslim girls in the history of Turkey.

Average Age Ninety-three

Under the name road in the village of Littleborough, Eng., are five graves all related, whose combined age total 465—an average of 93. They are all active. "Two of them earning a living by knitting and domesticating, while the other three do housework. The patriarch of the household is 97, but still gets out in the morning to write the paper or 80 spends most of her time doing the kitchen work. The others are aged 85, 91 and 92.

Onlooker: Surely, Miss, you don't expect to reach this in that state of health? No, no, I don't expect to. I've just showing my of woman I have no time to be weaker.

Head of the House (to ANNE): When you told you to just that paper on the wall?

Domestic: Your wife, sir.

Head of the House: Pretty, isn't it?

"The just got a good news now?" "Yes, sir, I've just got it as much interest in the children as the lady just does."

Origin Of Well-Known Song

"For the Sake of a Jolly Good Fellow" Was Once a Marching Tune

"For the Sake of a Jolly Good Fellow" is a song which is well known to all. The words are few and the tune the most common, but it is not in any other song, but it is in an old French marching song, which was an entire gathering barbers forth spontaneously. Everybody seems to know the song from the days of infancy, although it is doubtful if it was purchased at any music store in existence.

About the origin of the song there is often a great deal of doubt. The words of antiquity have obscured the authors and composers of some of the best known are that did fail to continue for a time. Someone recently kindred of an English newspaper the source of "For the Sake of a Jolly Good Fellow."

It is stated that the song was a correspondent that the tune was an old French marching song, which was having been adapted to it by the British "Tommy" of the day in honor of the French Republic, who led them against the French over two hundred years ago. Marie Antoinette was said to have taken a fancy to it and have sung it herself during her last days. "When a song, born in war and associated with bloodshed and tragedy, is taken the song of song for civil purposes.

England Builds Iron Houses

Lined With asbestos Sheeting and Are Cheaper Than Brick

The first iron house in the world for habitation in England has been built for exhibition at Dudley in Worcester shire.

It is a semi-detached villa constructed by a local firm, and, while cheaper than brick, are claimed to have four times the life of steel houses. Only 15 days was occupied in building. The plates are bolted down to give waterproof joints, and the inside walls are of asbestos sheeting. Led Cables between the outer plates and the interior sheeting are packed for warmth with wool approved by the ministry of health.

Only one erector and two laborers are required for each house, the weight of which is eight tons.

The houses cost about $2,600 to build, exclusive of the price of the land.

Exploit To Survive Term

The prison at Jerusalem contains a man who is probably the worst of his new century.

The Supreme Court has just confirmed the sentence of a man on an 18-year term, who was found guilty of murdering his daughter.

The prisoner, a Palestinian of Arabic race, the evidence, has ordered a new set of false teeth.

SETTLERS SUCH AS THESE COMING BY HUNDREDS-- POLISH FLAPPERS AT ONCE ADOPT CANADIAN STYLES

Brandsnatchers of the best agricultural type, many of them bringing money to buy land, are arriving in Winnipeg these days literally by the thousands. The showy photographs, taken a few days ago at the Union Station, is a fair sample of the type of immigrant that Canada is getting from Russia this season, and the picture speaks for itself as to the standard of civilization. During the past several days many such "Boysenians," Sweden and Danes have been loaded up in the large cattle transported from the seaboard by special Canadian National trains.

led by the C.N.R. colonization department in positions on farms throughout the prairie provinces, with the idea of working for a year or two to learn Canadian farm methods before taking up land of their own.

The last week in March saw the largest movement of immigrants to Canada since the war years and the immigration authorities are convinced that this is the last year's type which is coming to this country under the present immigration regulations.

Also, during that period a party made up of 57 Polish families from the Ukraine reached the west under the 1906 Settlement Act to establish 2,000 Polish families on the land in the Dominion. Large as this party

Canada Can Feed Them

"It is" said that population of the United States is increasing at the rate of a million a year, and that the current census shows a population of about one hundred and twenty million. It is not to be wondered at that Washington should desire to exclude all those not entitled to enter the country. It is difficult to say just when the United States will stop entry of all aliens. The day for that does not seem to be far distant, however. Most of the productive areas of the United States are already taken up. It is becoming a question of being able to provide food for the population. The breadbasket should not cause doubt, but the meat supply in Canada. After the United States, this country is the next best to the lands of the Atlantic for the settler, who wishes to establish a home and is not afraid to work for it. Relying food products for the people of the United States will be the grain industry in Canada as a natural export. Canada, Canada, Canada, Canada.

Not Official Date

Declaration of Independence Signed July 2 Not July 4

American history has been told that the Declaration of Independence was not signed on July 4, 1776, nor was the Declaration of Independence actually signed on that day, according to a professor of the political department of Princeton University. "What was actually done on our fourth was only to agree to the final draft of the Declaration. The final draft was signed by John Jay on the night of July 4, 1776, for public distribution," said Professor Wiley. "By that date our thirteen original states had been solemnly and officially independent for two days. The day of the final draft was not a day of celebration of Congress on July 2."

A rather poor faculty unexpectedly came into possession of a fortune. They purchased a large farm, with hives, cows and pigs. One day the little daughter was showing a visitor about the place, and she said: "Do you hear how many eggs?" he inquired. "No, they are not eggs," she replied. "But in your new position they don't need 'em."

Tells Time By Centuries

Swedish Water Clock Has Been Going 1,000 Years Or More

There is a clock in Sweden, not made by human hands, which tells the time by centuries and has been going for eight thousand years and more. It is a great example of water, Lake Lugunda, into whose still depths flow the icy waters from a glacier nearby. At the low-water level it is released the force of the lake and descends a steep layer of mud. But because the melting of the snow-water the layer of mud is divided into a light and a dark band.

All round the shores of the lake is this band of mud. The lake was so gradually drained 120 years ago and it has been possible to count the whole number of layers which have been deposited since the lake was formed. Some of the topmost ones have been trampled down or destroyed, but these missing years have been computed from other sources, and the sum of the layers is found to be 8,000 years. When the great sheet of ice which once covered half Europe and loosed its waters into the glacier from the ice of Brighton finally beat a retreat, splitting into two portions, one of which drew back from Scandinavia, it drew the basin called Lake Lugunda, which henceforward was always free from the glaciers. It therefrom marks the end, the very end of the Ice Ages. Further south than Lake Lugunda other lakes have also held the time in years, and deposits in Switzerland reveal that the Ice Ages came and went at least four times in this, the last great retreat, the northward departing Ice Age, covered 5,000 years in going back 500 miles, and 1,500 years in passing away from Stockholm to Lake Lugunda.

Decided Out Of Whiskers

Queen Victoria's letters indicate that she was not averse to the death of Prince Albert and his refusal to have anything to do with public ceremonies for many years, she found time to go into official matters very thoroughly, and even decided how many men should wear their whiskers. In June, 1860, orders were issued at her command that naval men, were not to wear whiskers unless they also were beards.

Trogle Film Banned

"Impending" the film showing the death of the great actor and recently attempted to fly between the four pillars which constitute the basis of the British Empire, its showing in Great Britain and the United States has been prohibited by the French censorship. The film, containing the story of the life of the actor, is considered as a work of art.

If the love of money is the root of all evil, the want of it must be the root of all evil.

Blind Man Builds Home For Himself

New Jersey Carpenter Is Doing Work All Alone

Right eyes cannot overcome the blindness of this blind man in the case of Francis J. Burdett, blind man, who is building a six-room Dutch Colonial house in Wayne, N.J. Last September Mr. Burdett totally blind for 12 years, completed the framing of a two-story house. Working alone, he planned every part of the labor required to dig the cellar and lay the foundation. Mr. Burdett is now ready to put a roof on his house.

Throughout the winter this courage one blind man has worked every day with the exception of the stormy ones. Occupants of the house of fortune teller that passed the night on Pumpkin Township hills realized that the tall, straight old gentleman, perched high on the frame stairs was blind. He hammered and sawed with all the precision and vigor of a man who could see.

The house is now covered with rough boards, and is far from completed. Mr. Burdett tells daily from early morn to sunset. It is unusual to watch this blind man, sixty-one years of age, climb ladders, perch on narrow scaffolds, and use all the tools of the carpenter from adze to plane. He knows where each nail is to be found. Every place of material from a ball of twine to the six-foot timbers to be used in the construction are catalogued in his mind.

A New Superstition

Scottish Bricklayers Fear Twig To Chimney of Completed House

A superstition that is somewhat new has shown itself in Scotland. When a house is completed, the Scottish bricklayers take a freshly-cut twig to the chimney-pots, to signal to the job is finished, and to give, as they say, life to the new dwelling. This superstition is said to have been imported from Germany, where, it is probable, it was learned by men serving with the army of occupation. In Germany a soldier was to be seen to think of placing the "Marshall's" or of leaving a new house without attaching a twig to the chimney top.

Killed By Bears

A dispatch from Noyah, in the valley of the River in Illinois, says that five men in that district have been killed and eaten by bears. A local hunter, who was also attacked by the animals, returned so maimed and lacerated that he could scarcely tell of the fate which had overtaken his companions.

Native women of India are often seen to carry heavy burdens, and the making of roads.

Too many marriages are for publication only and not a guarantee of good faith.

Mighty Task Nears Completion

Work Was Started On Oxford Dictionary In 1857

The literary world is stirred by the news that the Oxford Dictionary is nearly completed. This is to say that the last leaves will be proof read, corrected and bound in from two to three years.

It is difficult for the humble mind to appreciate the stupendous work which has been going on for nearly seventy years. Its inception goes back to 1857, when the university decided on compiling a total of words in the English language which would be the last word in information. There will be fifteen volumes in all. Ten have been issued, each weighing ten pounds, and as large as the old-fashioned family Bible. The complete work will contain seven million of text, five million lines of type, two hundred million letters and figures, not including punctuation marks. Its chief function is to trace the history of the English language. To this end all written records of the language were researched and laid under tribute. From the widest range of sources, printed books, and even public records, manuscripts, and even private papers. The ordinary dictionary, confronted by this mighty task, is a mere child in the presence of the giant.

Big Ben Has Large Audience

Thousands Tune In Daily To Hear The Wonderful Bell Chime

"Big Ben" is the regular title for the citizens of London, England. The bell is the most famous of the people live in their wireless sets to hear the chimes of the wonderful bell. Twelve in a day a mechanical contrivance in the clock chimes an electric signal, the effect of which is to deflect the needle of a galvanometer in the time department of the observatory. The assistant in charge watches for this deflection and notes its time by means of a chronometer. It is not right. It is only in consequence of underestimation or an accidental disturbance of the pendulum that a large alteration is required.

If the clock is particularly wrong, it is of four seconds in several days, the firm of clockmakers that have the Westminster clock in their charge are informed, and it is set right. It is only in consequence of underestimation or an accidental disturbance of the pendulum that a large alteration is required.

The first, second and third quarters all begin to strike at those times respectively, but the fourth quarter chime starts about twenty seconds before the hour, so that it may have finished striking before the hour is announced by the first blow of the hammer on "Big Ben."

Getting It At Both Ends

Little Mary always had an objection to bed at night putting up with her mother. One night, when her mother reminded her that it was her bedtime, she said:

"It isn't late. At night you tell me I'm little to stay up, and in the morning you say that I'm the big to stay in bed."—Youth Companion.

"Some, is your mother a good farmer?"

"No, ma'am, because she never makes two crops in one year."

"How is that, Sambo?"

"He says all his day to do so, then makes many more, don't he do spring he says he does of the cattle and the work of the day, and make money twice."

Master Would Ben Jack

In Mexico the ministry of education wants the introduction of Jack, saying it is degrading mainly corresponding to the state of the nation. Mr. Mexico is making efforts to discourage the spread of this United States form of male among the younger generation.
